Introduction

Explore Córdoba, the city of the 3 cultures, accompanied by a passionate gastronomic guide. Sample a range of small dishes where locals eat and have an unique food experience through your senses. Also, learn more about the history of Córdoba having a stroll through the paved narrow streets. Cordoba is one of the largest cities in Andalusia, the southern region known for its rich culture, warm and charismatic people and gastronomy.

Local and historical food and terrace hopping is a great way to experience the best of Cordoba, especially when you`re with a local Andalusian guide. This way you will not only enjoy a great tour but also taste typical and local dishes of the South. With this tour you will get a taste of the real Cordoba, tasting authentic and traditional food like mazamorra, stewed oxtail, salmorejo and Spanish hams and cheeses and many more. This is great for foodies who want to hop bar to bar for local and historical food with great company.

Embark on a three-hour gastronomy tour around the Old Quarter with a small group (1-10 people). Discover the places where the locals eat while our knowledgeable guides share their stories with you. Let the flavours assault your senses! After all, isn`t that what travel is about?

Day by day itinerary

DAY 1:

CORDOBA

- 08:00PM: Meet your English-Speaking Food/Wine Specialist Guide outside bar Correo, in to Tendillas Square (Close to Starbuck Cafeteria)
- We will start our route visiting a secret terrace with the best views of Cordoba. There we will taste the Iberian classics of our country accompanied by wine from our land.
- We will continue the route visiting a palace now converted into a five-star hotel. There you will not only know the flavour of one of the most representative dishes of the city, you will also know the stories that this place hides, as well as visiting its corners where you will discover a wonderful underground: an authentic Roman villa of the first century D.C.
- Finally, the tour ends with a visit to an old tavern where you will feel like a local, we will make you feel more local by visiting an old tavern hidden in the historic neighbourhood of our city where we will satisfy your appetite with the most traditional cuisine of Andalucía. With all this you will enjoy the sensation of finding in each piece a bit of history and a reason to smile. All as it could not be otherwise, craft beer, or a lovingly matured Andalusian wine.
- 11:00PM End of Tour

Diego Gil was our guide for the gastronomic part of our trip. His tapas tour was outstanding – not purely gastronomic but a fascinating introduction to the city in three different styles. The first stop was the roof terrace of a private flat, where we simply ate cheese and ham accompanied by a bottle of local red wine and a stunning view of the Mezquita. The second was a large hotel, where we looked at Visigothic remains in the basement before a beautifully-presented tapa with cava in the hotel bar. The third was a local tavern, clearly off the main tourist trail, where we ate local specialities with fino.
